SHADY OAKS COUNTRY CLUB

Shady Oaks Country Club is considered one of the finest and most intimate private clubs in Texas and is a culmination of the 1955 vision of Marvin Leonard. While a new clubhouse was built in 2005, Shady Oaks still holds true to the original plan for a small, family-like atmosphere and extraordinary golf course.

The club is known for its atmosphere of casual elegance and its uncompromising quality. With everything from the golf course to the fitness center receiving national recognition, Shady Oaks has a multitude of magnificent facilities and activities for the full enjoyment of its members.

Shady Oaks is known as the second home of the late Ben Hogan, known to many as the greatest pro golfer of the past century. Portraits of both Hogan and Leonard can be found in the clubhouse and perfectly preserved Hogan memorabilia decorates the hallways and golf shop.

Hogan spent his final years playing at Shady Oaks and was quoted as saying, "You won't find anything like this any place else in the world."

MIRA VISTA COUNTRY CLUB

Mira Vista Country Club is the creation of golf pro Tom Weiskopf and golf course architect Jay Morrish, whose joint efforts have resulted in the design and construction of this outstanding 18-hole championship golf course - ranked as one of the top courses in the State of Texas.

The course features state-of-the-art practice facilities that duplicate actual situations with various sand bunkers and target greens. Expansive tee areas at each end of the range allow practice against prevailing winds from either direction. The 11th-hole was selected as the best 11th-hole in America in a 2000-edition of Golf Digest.

Mira Vista has hosted the Texas State Amateur, Southern Amateur and Texas State Mid-Amateur Championship. The club also frequently hosts the Texas PGA Sectional Championships and USGA Championship qualifying events.

Recent enhancements to Mira Vista provide a maximum length of over 7,000 yards, and three lakes enhance this layout as it meanders through the hills of some of the most scenic countryside of Tarrant County.

COLONIAL COUNTRY CLUB

Located within minutes of campus, TCU is honored to play on this course that is revered and rated as one of the top-70 golf courses in the world. Each May, Colonial Country Club is the focal point of the PGA Tour as it plays host to the Crowne Plaza Colonial Invitational.

The course has also played host to the 1941 U.S. Open, 1975 Tournament Players' Championship and 1991 U.S. Women's Open. Colonial Country Club is one of the oldest and most prestigious country clubs and was founded by Marvin Leonard, who envisioned the club as a way to introduce Bentgrass greens to the City of Fort Worth.

Today, the private, family-oriented club has a full-service golf shop and practice range along with pro golf instruction. The 18-hole, par-70 course extends to 7,010 yards, and with a championship layout, four sets of tee-boxes ensure that golfers of all skill levels are able to enjoy the course.

Colonial has been rated the top golf course in the State of Texas several times within the last decade. The long, traditional layout requires players to utilize every club in their bag and is a true test of their overall ability.

RIDGLEA COUNTRY CLUB

Sectioned in the prestigious west quadrant of the city, Ridglea Country Club is rich in both history and tradition. The club was the vision of the late A.C. Luther, who was the premier developer of the Ridglea area over 50 years ago and brought California architecture to the North Texas area.

The club possesses a pair of distinct, yet equally challenging, 18-hole golf courses. The north course or "Family Course" was built in 1930 and features lush fairways and Bentgrass greens. At 6,447 yards from the championship tees, the north course is very hilly and allows golfers the opportunity to practice a variety of shots.

The south course or "Championship Course" was built in 1967 and features 7,200 yards of some of the most challenging golf in the Metroplex. Several holes on the championship course are rated among the toughest in the Dallas/Fort Worth area and is designed to test even the avid golfer.

Ridglea Country Club is among the most luxurious club facilities in the city and the staff believes general health is the key to physical well-being and offer a comprehensive fitness program.

RIVER CREST COUNTRY CLUB

River Crest Country Club has the distinction of being the oldest club in the Fort Worth area. The club was originally built in 1911 by Tom Bendelow, who was known as the "Johnny Appleseed of American Golf" and is credited with having designed over 600 courses in a 35-year span.

In 1996, Williams, Gill and Associate, Inc. upgraded the course and added a bit of length to the flat terrain. The history-rich course has been the host of LPGA events as well as the Texas Amateur and Texas Cup. The 18-hole course extends to 6,368 yards, making the course relatively short by modern standards.

River Crest Country Club possesses Bermuda grass fairways as well as Bentgreen grasses in its challenging layout. The fairways are tough to hit consistently and the greens make challenging targets on the approaches. On the front nine, two of the longer holes are the third and fifth holes, which extend 430 and 458 yards.

The club recently renovated the course to add a few wrinkles to the design. River Crest Country Club is a very prestigious club and the 1984 white-columned clubhouse was honored by the Texas Society of Architects.

Leonard Golf Links is widely-considered one of the top ranges in the country and sits on 52 acres of land just minutes from the TCU campus. Considered the finest teaching and practicing facility in the area, Leonard Golf Links is home to NIKE's Research and Development Center.

The home practice facility of TCU men's golf, Leonard Golf Links offers three-acre Tiff Bermuda grass tees with 62 stations; 10,000-square foot Bentgrass putting green; short-game area with practice bunkers; 60-foot tall halide light fixtures for night-time practice; covered tee area for incimate weather; and full-service pro shop.

Leonard Golf Links also offers a top-quality teaching staff headed by Dana Bellenger - a member of NIKE's Elite Professional Staff - and professional club fittings by former TCU standout Steve Russell.

TCU OLYMPIC COMPLEX

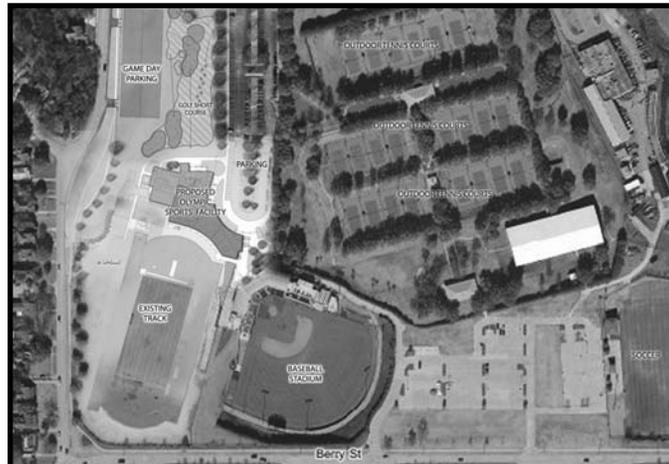

TCU OLYMPIC COMPLEX

The proposed TCU Olympic Complex will support 14 of the Frogs' 20 athletic programs, including men's and women's golf, men's and women's cross country, men's and women's indoor and outdoor track and field, men's and women's tennis, women's soccer, baseball, women's rifle and women's equestrian.

The TCU Olympic Complex will serve as a main center of integration and networking for student-athletes from sports, which previously had no "home" within the first-class TCU facilities. With the addition of the TCU Olympic Complex, each varsity sports program will now have its own coaches' offices, locker rooms, meeting room, lounge, etc. The TCU Olympic Complex will also include a student-athlete enhancement center with computer laptops for academic work in addition to a weight room and athletic training center.

The proposed location for the TCU Olympic Complex will be adjacent to the Lupton Baseball Stadium and Williams-Reilly Field in addition to the Lowdon Track and Field Complex. Located in the southwest corner of campus, the TCU Olympic Complex will be another first-class facility addition to the TCU Athletics Department, which has received national recognition for its ever-growing new facility projects.

THE BEN HOGAN | COLONIAL SCHOLARSHIP

One of the most prestigious scholarships awarded to a member of the TCU men's golf program is the Ben Hogan/Colonial Golf Scholarship, which is an endowed scholarship awarded annually by the University. The award recipient is selected by head men's golf coach Bill Montigel on the basis of character, integrity, high morals, academic excellence and self-motivation.

This past season, TCU junior Travis Woolf was selected as the recipient of the Ben Hogan/Colonial Scholarship at the annual Horned Frog Classic.

"The names Ben Hogan and Colonial Country Club clearly stand for the highest achievement in sports performance," TCU Chancellor Dr. Victor Boschini said. "The University's golf program is proud to be associated with both of these legends of the game."

Hogan learned to play golf in Fort Worth as a caddie before becoming one of the best players the sport has ever seen. The winner of 62 professional tournaments, he won the Colonial National Invitation Tournament five times, and, in the process, influenced the nickname "Hogan's Alley" for the magnificent Colonial layout. Recognized as one of the top courses in the world, Colonial has been named "Best in the State" by a panel of Texas golfers and golf executives.

THE CHARLES COODY | PHI DELTA THETA GOLF SCHOLARSHIP

The Charles Coody/Phi Delta Theta Golf Scholarship was started in 1999 where funds are accumulated through a portion of proceeds from the Charles Coody Classic Golf Tournament held in Fort Worth each year. The event has raised more than $250,000 for several worthwhile organizations. The Charles Coody/Phi Delta Theta Golf Scholarship is awarded annually to a member of the men's or women's golf team.

After finishing a fine collegiate career at TCU in 1960, Charles Coody joined the PGA Tour in 1963 where his career highlight was capturing the 1971 Master's Championship. A three-time winner of the PGA Tour, Coody was a member of the 1971 U.S. Ryder Cup Team.

Coody – who was diagnosed with polio at the age of 13 – joined the Champions Tour during the 1987 season where he has accumulated 12 victories during his career on the senior circuit. The former TCU standout captured the Liberty Mutual Legends of Golf on three occasions as well as claimed four victories during the 1991 season, including The Chrysler Cup and NYNEX Commemorative.

A winner of over $4-million on the Champions Tour, Coody captured the 1997 MasterCard Champions Championship and finished second overall at the 1991 Senior Players Championship. Coody ranks among the top-30 on the tour's all-time money list and has been inducted into both the Texas Sports Hall of Fame and Texas Golf Hall of Fame.

THE BRION T. CARLSON MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

The Brion T. Carlson Memorial Scholarship is one of the significant scholarships to all past and present members of the TCU golf program. The scholarship was established by Carlson's family and friends and is awarded annually to a current member or prospective student-athlete for the TCU men's golf program. The Brion T. Carlson Memorial Scholarship became fully endowed in 1993 as a result of proceeds from various life insurance policies held by Mr. Leo Carlson - Brion's father.

The Brion T. Carlson Memorial Scholarship is significant to the TCU men's golf program as the former standout was having a superb career with the Frogs until his untimely death during his senior season in 1981. The Frogs' team captain during the 1980-81 campaign captured his first-ever collegiate championship at the Southwest Spring Classic where he defeated Lawrence Field of the University of Texas on the first hole of sudden death.

A product of Addison, Ill., Carlson joined the Frogs' during the 1977-78 season where he competed in 10 tournaments during his rookie campaign. Carlson was having the best season of his career before he passed away during his senior campaign. The late TCU standout was honored for his contributions by the coaches of the Southwest Conference as they selected Carlson with unanimous All-Southwest Conference accolades following the season.

THE RAYMOND GAFFORD MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

The Raymond Gafford Memorial Scholarship, which is linked with a prominent golf name in the City of Fort Worth, was established in 1990 by friends of the late local standout through an annual golf tournament and is given annually to a member of the men's or women's golf program. Gafford was a lifelong resident of Fort Worth, who became a club pro at Meadowbrook Golf Course at the age of 19 and devoted his life to helping people both on and off the golf course. After becoming the head golf pro at Ridglea Country Club in 1954, Gafford held that post until his retirement in 1976.

THE SCOTT DIKE MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

The Scott Dike Memorial Scholarship was established in 1981 by Mr. and Mrs. A.R. "Buddy" Dike along with their family and friends in memory of their son, Scott, who was a student at TCU at the time of his untimely death. Mr. and Mrs. Dike both graduated from TCU in 1958, and Buddy continues his support of the University by serving as a member of the Board of Trustees. The Scott Dike Memorial Scholarship is awarded annually to a member of either the men's or women's golf program.

THE ROLAND HARPER MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

The Roland Harper Memorial Scholarship was established by his family and friends in March of 2001 in recognition of his long-time service as the head golf pro at Colonial Country Club and his ability to teach so many people who strived to make themselves better. Harper was a mentor to many who loved the game and was a true friend of TCU, the TCU men's and women's golf program and collegiate golf in general. The fund was endowed with a monetary gift from Colonial Charities in November of 2002.

THE WRAY AND SALLY THOMPSON MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

The Wray and Sally Thompson Memorial Scholarship was established as a passion of three things that were held sacred by the Thompson family - young people, education and golf. When their son, Doug, graduated from TCU in 1984, the Thompson family wanted to establish a permanent legacy for the TCU golf programs, and Wray - Founder, CEO and President of The Leather Factory - knew that the time wasn't right as his company was in its fourth year.

By 1993, The Leather Factory had become successful enough to go public, and it used shares of their now-publicly marketable stock to an endowed scholarship for the TCU men's and women's golf programs, which is awarded annually to a deserving student-athlete from either program.
